Who says you can't have a high-paying job AND stay home with the kids?

I was sick to death of society telling me I had to choose between my kids and a good income. I'm a single mom, my kids come first, but I also need to earn a living.

I never thought I'd be able to stay home with my kids AND have decent money coming in.

Until I stumbled upon copywriting: if you can write a gossipy email to your friend, trust me, this will be a piece of cake for you!

See how you could become a copywriter too...
