INTRODUCING FREE WORLD ONE - INVEST IN THE FUTURE, BENEFIT ALONG THE WAY

Over the past few months we've been analysing our current efforts in tackling what we believe is our biggest challenge: advancing our ideas in a noisy, consumer-driven world.

The Free World Charter has been our central point of reference, guiding our efforts and defining our ultimate goal, with our various other projects, like HonorPay and Freeworlder, all working in unison to get us there.

As a Free World Charter signatory, your support has been instrumental in getting us this far, and we thank you for that. With your help, we've managed to raise awareness of our cause with appearances at events like this year's Z-Day in Germany.

However, our work up until now has been fuelled only by good intentions and scant donations, and while we are seeing some success, we've come to the realisation that this approach is simply not enough to get us where we need to be.

So what if we could multiply our efforts to create lasting change and be rewarded for it at the same time – all of us?

We now believe it makes sense to use the market system to our advantage, so we've created a new philanthropic, for-profit company called Free World One under which all our projects can be supported and operated.

We have identified several areas in which we can advance our aims through creating high value products and services. Our preliminary market research also suggests a strong demand for these products.

So we are taking the bold, unprecedented step of setting up this million Euro company in order to finance and bring these products to market. Monies raised will be further invested in similar projects that promote our free world ethos...

And we're giving you the opportunity to share in our profits.
