

So what's the deal? Who's got Sex Appeal? You'd think it would be quite a tight contest between Europe and the US when in fact it really isn't. While the French are known for being romantic, are you really that keen on the odour of garlic in bed? Italians, romantic? I doubt it when you discover you've become one of the wives of the Godfather's Corleones. Nice. As for the Spanish, well, they spend so much time trying to irritate bulls, I wouldn't be surprised to find prosthetics in unmentionable places. Ooh, sexy. And Germans, they seem to like their big, long sausages don't they? Perhaps compensating...? What about the Scottish? While their legs are quite sexy, do you fancy discovering whether or not he's a true Scot by chance of a passing breeze? I think not. US' body over brains seems to win the day, no matter how plastic!